

EXTENSION WORK
WIDENING OUT

Experts to Visit Teachers' Institutes to Arouse Greater Interest in Agricultural Education.

Sweeping the state from east to west, with a great many more institutes reached than ever before, the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, through its departments of Extension Service and Agricultural Education, will begin its definite teachers' institute work, in the interest of better and more efficient school agriculture, on September 4th, eight representatives of the college having been booked for as many circuits. Each circuit will consist of five daily meetings, each meeting being represented by at least one individual county. In some instances, where the superintendents have had their sections well organized, there will be anywhere from three to seven counties jointly represented in one meeting.

So far more than 150 applications have been received by S. G. Rubinow, field agent in Agricultural Education, in charge of this work, and the circuits organized include almost every well-defined section of the state. Every county in the state is anxious to develop its agricultural resources and the county superintendents are paying a great deal of attention to this important phase of their school work. While the week of September 4th to 8th is the banner week of teachers' institute work, the institutes will convene in various counties up to the holidays, and the college will be represented at a large number of these meetings.

Among those who will represent the college at the institutes is this list of college and extension workers:

E. B. Reynolds, instructor in Crops and Soils.

W. L. Stangel, instructor in Animal Husbandry.

I. E. Cowart, assistant professor of Horticulture.

J. D. Blackwell, associate professor of Agricultural Education.

J. A. Evans, pecan specialist, Extension Service.

C. C. French, state agent in pig club work, Extension Service.

H. H. Williamson, state agent in charge of boys' clubs, Extension Service.

S. G. Rubinow, field agent in Agricultural Education.

The circuits already organized include the following counties:

Circuit No. 1—Gregg, Harrison, Marion, Cass and Red River.

Circuit No. 2—Wise, Denton, Ellis, Tarrant and Parker.

Circuit No. 3—Falls, McLennan, Milam, Lee and Austin.

Circuit No. 4—Wilson, Karnes, Live Oak, Bee, Refugio, Aransas, Jim Wells, San Patricio, Neches, Kleberg, Brooks, Willacy, Hidalgo and Cameron.

Circuit No. 5—Liberty, Polk, Hardin, Jefferson and Orange.

Circuit No. 6—Angelina, Shelby, San Augustine, Jasper and Newton.

Circuit No. 7—Oldham, Deaf Smith, Farmer, Castro, Randall, Armstrong, Lubbock, Ector, Ward and Reeves.

That Texas is coming into her own as an agricultural state is a foregone conclusion. Agricultural schools are springing up in all sections. Agricultural courses of study are being added to many curricula. It will not be long until the agriculture of Texas schools will have raised the standing of Texas in the educational world.

MOTOR BOAT CHAMPIONSHIP RACES

The American Championship to Be Decided on Detroit River September 2, 4 and 5.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 23.—For the first time since 1904, when the Gold Cup was put up, the motor boat championship race of America will be held this year on Western waters. It will be decided on the Detroit river September 2, 4 and 5, with the mile championships on September 6. Previous to 1915 most of the boats competing represented Eastern clubs, but last year a group of Detroit sportsmen built and financed the racing of the Miss Detroit, which lifted the cup and brought it West.

This year Miss Detroit will defend the cup against Count Mankoski's challenger, Ankle Deep Too, which sank twice in trial trips on Long Island Sound last year.

Among the other known contestants will be the Miss Minneapolis, the Hawkeye, and a new craft being built in Detroit by C. Harold Willis. Among the probable starters are: The Tech, Jr., owned by Colonel T. Coleman Dupont; Commodore James A. Pugh's new Disturber hydro, and W. J. Connor's Buffalo Enquirer. It is expected that others will make a bid for the Gold cup and that about a dozen hydroplanes will start in the race. The Hawkeye, owned by Commodore J. L. Judson, president of the American Power Boat Association, was burned last year and did not compete, but has been rebuilt.

In a race at Put-In-Bay this season the Miss Minneapolis averaged 66.66 miles per hour, a new world's record.

While the Miss Detroit was not forced to extend herself in winning the 1915 races at Manhasset Bay in straight heats, her best time being 48.49 miles an hour, it is hardly probable that the defender can equal the new world's record holder's speed.

However, the boat has been thoroughly overhauled and the backers believe she can retain the trophy. The Willis boat will be a dark horse, but is expected to be among the fastest of the hydroplane type ever produced. This craft will be driven by Johnny Milot, with Jack Bebee as mechanic, the crew that piloted Miss Detroit last year.

The course this year from the spectator's standpoint will be ideal. Thirty-mile heats will be raced each day over the five-mile course, laid on the American side of the Detroit river, in the channels between Belle Isle, a city park, and the American shore, and the boats will be visible from almost any point at all times.

Clever Idea.

A small boy who was not familiar with country ways was taken by his fond mother for a short stay in the country.

On a farm in a neighborly county he waxed fat and sunburnt, and picked up a wondrous store of astonishing experiences.

One day the farmer, who had kept his eye on the boy, smilingly said to the mother, "Just ask your boy why he hid two eggs in the stable."

So at the very first opportunity the mother said to the 6-year-old:

"My dear, what did you do with those eggs you took from the hen-house?"

"I hid them in the stable," answered the boy.

"And what for?" asked the mother.

"'Cause it's my scheme."

"Your scheme? And what is your scheme?"

"Why, you see, mamma," said the little philosopher, "when eggs is borned in a chicken house they is always little chickens, and I tink if they was borned in a stable they might be little horses."

THE KICKER.

He kicks about the weather and He kicks about the shows;

He kicks about the service and The food where'er he goes;

He kicks about the street cars and He kicks about the gas;

He kicks about the baseball games When he goes on a pass.

He kicks about the president. He kicks about the king;

He kicks about the house of lords, And almost everything.

He kicks about his neighbors and He kicks about his wife;

He kicks when there is too much peace, He kicks when there is strife.

When he gets to the promised land It's going to make him sick; He won't be heaven there for him Without a chance to kick.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Dixie tonight comes the noted American stage star, Frank Keenan, in the powerful "Ince" production, "The Phantom," a picture of the famous stage sensation in five wonderful acts. In support of Mr. Keenan in this great feature is beautiful Enid Markey and one of the strongest casts ever used for a screen production. In addition to this there is another of those screaming Keystone comedies, "Poor Papa," featuring the prominent comedian, DeWolf Hopper, and a score of other favorites. Tomorrow afternoon and night Fanny Ward, who created such a sensation in "The Cheat" and other Lasky productions, will be seen in one of Willard Mack's successes, "A Gutter Magdalene," a five-act masterpiece, which gives a vivid picture of the different phases of city life and is replete with stirring adventure and romance. It is an especially fine offering and every one should avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing this prominent star at such a small admission fee. The admission is the regular Dixie 10 cents.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR THE HOT KITCHEN.

Electricity Enables One Family to Eat and Cook in the Yard.

Cooking in the hot kitchen is the bane of every housewife. Electricity has made it possible for one family of five, living in a modest cottage in an Eastern summer resort, to give the housewife and also the hired girl a vacation from the sweltering atmosphere of the ordinary kitchen range.

This family belongs to the middle class and is unable to afford the elaborate facilities for housekeeping found on an expensive summer estate. Its members decided, however, that they would not eat in the hot dining room adjoining the kitchen when there were shady trees and cool breezes out of doors. How to do this without extravagance was the problem, but the ever willing electric current came to the rescue and solved it.

A dining table was constructed of scrap lumber, covered with oil cloth and nailed to four equal lengths of a tree trunk which served as legs. Chairs were made by sawing similar sections from a large tree trunk. Then both table and chairs were set up beneath the cooling shade of a large hickory tree behind a screen of honeysuckle. Above this rural dining room furniture covered wires were strung to suspend three 40-watt Mazda lamps for illumination at night.

Beneath the eaves of the kitchen four electric outlet boxes were installed to provide means for attaching electric heating devices for cooking the meals. A tiny refrigerator and a home-made kitchen cabinet beneath a shelter were built to allow the convenient storage of butter, eggs, milk, cheese, sugar, coffee, bread and such other staple articles of food as are often necessary in the kitchen.

At breakfast time the housewife boils, fries or scrambles eggs on the electric grill at her elbow. Coffee is made in a percolator on a side table and the other breakfast staples are in easy reach in the refrigerator and food cabinet. In case it is desired to keep a quantity of toast made in the electric toaster warm, the electric grill and miniature oven are used. Luncheon and dinner are prepared in a similar manner with the addition of meats and vegetables in the electric there is no dishwashing. Since the family has been living in this way it is estimated that an actual saving of between $10 and $12 has been made each month. In no one month was the bill for current consumed more than $1, and the housewife was enabled to do away with the hired girl at $5 a week and take a vacation herself. The scheme also lends itself admirably to five o'clock teas and is always praised and admired by the invited guests. On a hot night the table is illuminated and used for serving a final dish of ice cream or cold tea before the family retires.
